

The "Data Science" Specialization

Learn More

Feedback — Week 2 Quiz

Help Center

You submitted this quiz on Mon 11 May 2015 8:07 AM PDT. You got a score of 5.00 out of 5.00.

Question 1

Who created Markdown?

Your Answer	Score	Explanation
<input checked="" type="radio"/> John Gruber	✓	1.00
<input type="radio"/> Yihui Xie
<input type="radio"/> Hadley Wickham
<input type="radio"/> Robert Gentleman

Total 1.00 / 1.00

Question 2

When writing a document in R Markdown, how do you denote the beginning of an R code chunk?

Your Answer	Score	Explanation
<input type="radio"/>
<rcode>
<input checked="" type="radio"/>	✓	1.00
```{r}
<input type="radio"/>
<code>
<input type="radio"/>
...

Total	1.00 / 1.00
-------	-------------

Question 3

When using knitr, how do you indicate the height and width of a plot created in a code chunk?

Your Answer	Score	Explanation
<input checked="" type="radio"/> Set the 'fig.height' and 'fig.width' options for the code chunk	✓	1.00
<input type="radio"/> Set the 'height' and 'width' options for the code chunk <input type="radio"/> Set the 'size' and 'scale' options for the code chunk
<input type="radio"/> Set the 'dpi' option for the code chunk

Total	1.00 / 1.00
-------	-------------

Question 4

With some code chunks, we may not want the output generated by the chunk to be rendered into HTML but would prefer to print the output verbatim. How can we specify this preference for a given code chunk?

Your Answer	Score	Explanation
<input checked="" type="radio"/> Set the option <code>results = "asis"</code>	✓	1.00
<input type="radio"/> Set the option <code>tidy = FALSE</code>
<input type="radio"/> Set the option <code>message = FALSE</code>
<input type="radio"/> Set the option <code>highlight = TRUE</code>

Total	1.00 / 1.00
-------	-------------

Question 5

When using knitr and R Markdown and producing output in HTML, why should you never edit the resulting HTML file?

Your Answer	Score	Explanation
<input checked="" type="radio"/> Every time you knit() the R Markdown file, the HTML file will be overwritten	✓	1.00
<input type="radio"/> Editing the HTML file requires knowledge of a separate markup language.
<input type="radio"/> The HTML file is not a text file.
<input type="radio"/> The Markdown file generated by knitr is the appropriate file to edit.
Total	1.00 /
	1.00

